

2009 CRF450X

Here's a bike that can win right out of the box, while also being quite willing to go along on those fun trail rides with your buddies. The Honda CRF450X's 449 cc liquid-cooled Unicam™ four-stroke engine produces huge low-end and midrange power to get you through the gnarliest sections, yet it maintains incredibly strong top-end performance for when the trail straightens out. And thanks to the compact Honda Progressive Steering Damper™ (HPSD) tucked neatly behind the front number plate, handling is responsive yet stable.

Key Features

- Compact Honda Progressive Steering Damper (HPSD) improves handling and stability, and also allows reduced steering offset
- High-tech 449 cc Unicam engine is tuned specifically for enduro and cross-country use
- Keihin flat-slide carb with accelerator pump provides excellent over-rev performance and immediate throttle response
- Fully adjustable Showa™ suspension front and rear allows you to tailor the ride exactly how you want it
- Headlight, taillight and electric start are standard equipment
